The art of turning pavements into open-air living rooms where conversations flow like wine and last into the evening.

Promotional image of Israel Fernández

The bridge between generations of grandparents and young people, capturing the perfect mix between bitter and sweet, served in glasses that capture the sunlight.

Fajalauzas

Botijos

The recipe for jugs, earthenware pitchers and silverware moulded by hand and hand-painted with bright colours on clay, lovingly transmitting a family craft that bears witness to the art of transforming the everyday into lasting beauty.

Movie Jamón, jamón, by Bigas Luna (1992)

Typical Spanglish, by Sergio Mora (2010)

Living postcards of a country that is not afraid to laugh at itself, where the traditional Spain meets the sublime in a unique mix of pride and humour.

White houses of Andalusia

Seville Holy Week Poster (1970)

A collage of images and iconic places where the appetite of tourists is awakened, attracted by the immense diversity of our beloved land.

A carefree joy where silence doesn't exist and the commotion disturbs the cobblestones and scares away the pigeons with a loud "¡Buenos días!".

The finest quixotic settings, the countryside of Castilla. A canvas of Spanish sagas where the earth and the sky merge between ochre and golden tones.

Landscape, by Juan Manuel Díaz-Caneja, 1976

Castilla's countryside

Without hierarchies or prominence, small plates of food loaded with history and personality are displayed. It is the art of sharing a mosaic of flavours, textures and different dishes where a gastronomic choreography of improvised perfection and communion is created.

Videoclip of "Me Maten", by C Tangana, 2021

"Sobremesa", by Ignasi Monreal, 2022
